I'm challenged to improve my critical thinking and ability to give a close reading of the text. I know that my writing skills are challenged and because of this course I will become a better writer.

That the students don't always read the material and therefore are not learning at a rate (a potential rate) with the students who ~~are~~ have read the material.

16. Other comments and suggestions.

Great class! Interesting material!
Nice structure. But, I wish there was @ least 4 papers - not just 3.

14. What have you liked most about this course and why?

The texts chosen were great. I really liked the open discussions to allow students to critically engage in the text.

15. What have you liked least about this course and why?

At times, the professor allowed for one or two students to hold the floor with irrelevant topics, which took away from time that the class could have more from the text.

16. Other comments and suggestions.

Wonderful course to improve writing skills and critical analyze different texts. Dr. Morrison can be harsh at times, but he is so with the intent of challenging his students to reach their full potential.

For a morning course, this professor keeps the students awake. Time flies when professor Morrison teaches. Normally I found philosophy to be a drag, but I look forward to his classes.

15. What have you liked least about this course and why?

The books we had to read! Hume was especially hard. Maybe if we had a book other than Hume's I would have liked this class much more. Spinoza wasn't that bad, and Nietzsche is way better than Hume's work.
