List the student learning outcomes for the course (Statements of what students will know and be able to do as a result of taking this course. See appended hints for constructing these statements):

1. Students will develop their critical reasoning in reading, discussing and writing on a variety of classic texts.
2. Students will become familiar with some of the central philosophical, political, historical and scientific issues that have dominated the history of Western thinking.
3. Students will enhance their communication skills through intensive small-group discussions and oral examination finals.

Component Area for which the course is being proposed (check one):

Communication
Mathematics
Language, Philosophy, & Culture
Creative Arts
Life & Physical Sciences
American History
Government/Political Science
Social & Behavioral Science
Component Area Option (WID)

Competency areas addressed by the course (refer to appended chart for competencies that are required and optional in each component area):

Critical Thinking
Communication Skills
Empirical & Quantitative Skills
Teamwork
Social Responsibility
Personal Responsibility

Because we will be assessing student learning outcomes across multiple core courses, assessments assigned in your course must include assessments of the core competencies. For each competency checked above, indicated the specific course assignment(s) which, when completed by students, will provide evidence of the competency. Provide detailed information, such as copies of the paper or project assignment, copies of individual test items, etc. A single assignment may be used to provide data for multiple competencies.

Critical Thinking:
Students will be assigned a three-page essay that explains central questions of politics, ethics, and community through foundational texts from the Renaissance and Enlightenment forward. Students will be engaging and evaluating the overt and implicit claims of these texts about human nature, justice and happiness, and the basis and good order of human community. The primary emphasis of the assignment is critical thinking.

Sample essay assignment:

DISCUSSION ESSAY ASSIGNMENT ONE

In what manner and to what extent does the contrapasso of the last "pouch" of the malebolge (XXIX-XXX) show that the sin involved—falsifying—is a graver sin than that of the ninth pouch—schism?

Answer the question above in the form of an analytic essay of no more than three pages (typed or word-processed, double spaced, with sane margins). Affix a title page identifying yourself and the course, and please title the essay.

Communication Skills:
Students will develop written communication skills through completion of the above assignment.

Empirical & Quantitative Skills:

Teamwork:
Click here to enter text.

Social Responsibility:
The above assignment demonstrates engagement of the political theory in the course and questions of rights and responsibilities in modern life and citizenship. Working through the alternative positions elaborated in the text will help the students to develop an independent, critical, analytic approach to their individual and social development.

Personal Responsibility:
The above assignment addresses fundamental questions of personal development, as seen in the classical liberal conception of the rights-bearing rational individual, and the existential conception of the self in search of authenticity.

Will the syllabus vary across multiple section of the course?  X Yes  No
If yes, list the assignments that will be constant across sections:
All courses will include the above three-page analytic essay.

Inclusion in the core is contingent upon the course being offered and taught at least once every other academic year. Courses will be reviewed for renewal every 5 years.

The department understands that instructors will be expected to provide student work and to participate in university-wide assessments of student work. This could include, but may not be limited to, designing instruments such as rubrics, and scoring work by students in this or other courses. In addition, instructors of core courses may be asked to include brief assessment activities in their course.
