List the student learning outcomes for the course (Statements of what students will know and be able to do as a result of taking this course. See appended hints for constructing these statements):

Students will learn that Hispanic cultural production---especially, Mexican-American---has existed in the United States since the XV century
Students will study and understand the genesis, representatives and various interpretations and themes in Mexican-American literature
Students will learn the difference and similitudes between literature of exile, immigration and nativist
Students will have the opportunity to apply the critical tools learned through readings and class discussions in class assignments, i.e., exams, essays and presentations
Students will increase grammatical and linguistic accuracy in Spanish, both in written and oral discourse

Component Area for which the course is being proposed (check one):

☐ Communication
☐ Mathematics
☐ Language, Philosophy, & Culture
☐ Creative Arts
☐ Life & Physical Sciences
☐ American History
☐ Government/Political
☐ Social & Behavioral Science
☐ Component Area Option

Competency areas addressed by the course (refer to appended chart for competencies that are required and optional in each component area):

v.5/10/12
Because we will be assessing student learning outcomes across multiple core courses, assessments assigned in your course must include assessments of the core competencies. For each competency checked above, indicated the specific course assignment(s) which, when completed by students, will provide evidence of the competency. Provide detailed information, such as copies of the paper or project assignment, copies of individual test items, etc. A single assignment may be used to provide data for multiple competencies.

Critical Thinking:
Students will write a three page essay that will require them to analyze the course’s major themes and at least one primary source relevant to the class discussion. The prompt will promote the development of critical thinking.
Sample paper assignment:
Submit an essay in which you analyze a short story of your choice, a group of five poems or five corridos, or a novel approved by the instructor. Students will chose from the course Anthology. For this assignment, please keep in mind the themes we have covered in this course—conquest, exile, immigration, the search for community and self, as well as the recognition of adversity. You should stick to your text and offer your analysis of it; this is not a research paper.
This assignment will be written in Spanish and uploaded to the course webpage.

In addition to the Spanish language writing assignment, students will complete one assignment in English that can also be used to assess critical thinking: ACTFL Proficiency level reading comprehension assignment: Students will write a three-page analytical paper in English critiquing and synthesizing one of the required readings.

Communication Skills:
In the same two assignments, students will demonstrate their communication skills. The essays will be graded in three steps. 1. The student will first submit a brief description of his or her chosen topic; 2. The student will submit a rough draft; 3: The student will incorporate the comments and corrections made to the rough draft to submit a final version.

Empirical & Quantitative Skills:

Teamwork:
Click here to enter text.
Social Responsibility:
In the same two essays, students will consider how the readings address social responsibility.

Personal Responsibility:
In the same two essays, students will address issues of personal responsibility.

Will the syllabus vary across multiple section of the course?
X Yes  □ No
If yes, list the assignments that will be constant across sections:
The two three-page essays, one written in Spanish, one in English, will be constant across all sections.

Inclusion in the core is contingent upon the course being offered and taught at least once every other academic year. Courses will be reviewed for renewal every 5 years.

The department understands that instructors will be expected to provide student work and to participate in university-wide assessments of student work. This could include, but may not be limited to, designing instruments such as rubrics, and scoring work by students in this or other courses. In addition, instructors of core courses may be asked to include brief assessment activities in their course.
